Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 13 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Dry and bright becoming damp and cloudy.

This Evening and Tonight:
Remaining fine and warm during the evening. A band of cloud should move southwards later in the night, eventually introducing slightly cooler conditions and outbreaks of rain and drizzle. Hill fog likely. Minimum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Monday:
Rather cloudy at first for many, however soon brightening up to further sunny spells. Feeling a little fresher than on Sunday, with a westerly breeze also developing. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Warm and fine Tuesday, and perhaps initially Wednesday, ahead of cloudier conditions and perhaps a little rain making inroads from the northwest, possibly giving way to more showery conditions Thursday.
